PEONIES

The varieties we offer have been thoroughly tested in this locality and have given most satisfactory results. Peonies do best in rich, rather moist and loamy soil, and if plants are protected from the hot afternoon sun they will give excellent results. They should have a liberal supply of water at all times, especially when in bloom during April and May. Fertilize well with cow manure, but do not let manure come in contact with roots. It is better to spread manure in ground some time before planting, so it will be assimilated. Keep the ground well cultivated. If these few simple directions are carried out, the results will be most satisfactory. Plant during fall.
